THE LENYA COMPETITION
CELEBRATING 25 YEARS

Eastman School of Music, Rochester, NY

Welcome to the Lotte Lenya Competition's 25th Anniversary Gala Alumni Concert, and to Kilbourn Hall at the Eastman School of Music—the host for 22 years of the Competition's 25-year history.

For a quarter century now, the Competition has provided young artists with a platform to demonstrate their versatility and creativity and to push the field forward. In fact, the emphasis on musical versatility has been a bellwether of the changing landscape of the musical theater industry, where performers are expected to have a broad range of skills and be able to adapt to different styles and genres.

We are thrilled to welcome back to the stage numerous Eastman alumni—whether in person or by video—who were Lotte Lenya prize winners since 1998. Their impressive careers serve as examples for recent contestants and form the foundation of this Competition's continuing legacy. Tonight, we also honor Steven Daigle, Artistic Director of Eastman Opera Theatre and Professor of Opera for the last 25 years, who retires at the end of this semester and who has supported countless students who have competed in the Lotte Lenya Competition over the years. And finally, we offer our sincere congratulations to Kim Kowalke, President and CEO of the Kurt Weill Foundation, for his vision, passion, commitment, and tenacity in creating and sustaining this remarkable annual event. We look forward with excitement to the next 25 years.

Gala Alumni Concert

25th Anniversary Celebration of THE LENYA COMPETITION

Eastman School of Music, Kilbourn Hall
Saturday, 29 April 2023

I like to think of this weekend's celebration as a "reunion," with all the multiple meanings of that word. Today the Competition reunites with its origins here in Kilbourn Hall and across the street, where Sibley Music Library exhibits Weill's manuscript scores and correspondence, just as in November 1998, during the "Relocating Weill" weekend. And, after a three-year hiatus because of COVID, the Competition reconnects with its loyal and appreciative audience in Rochester. The reunion also brings together previous prizewinners, some of whom competed or won in the same years, some who have subsequently appeared on stages together, others who are meeting in person tonight for the first time. Half are Eastman alumni, among the record-holding 69 ESM prizewinners in the Competition's history, who are returning also to honor Eastman's longtime Artistic Director of Opera, Steven Daigle, on the occasion of his retirement.

But perhaps the idea behind this event is most akin to a "family reunion," as we like to imagine that the community of performers who have participated in the Competition during the last quarter century is Foundation family. And not just contestants, but judges, coaches, mentors, producers who have engaged Lenya prizewinners, and, not least, several returning longtime KWF staff members.

And even some songs! Eight of tonight's singers will encore one of the numbers that helped them win a prize "back then," sonic "ghosts" taking the stage anew. This afternoon two finalists sang one of two songs first introduced to the Competition by Richard Todd Adams: "Taking Flight" and "I Can Hold You," in 2003 and 2004, respectively. Like old friends, these proven "winners" returned to Kilbourn. So does the top prizewinner of the first Competition, Brian Mulligan, who will sing one of the numbers he sang in 1998. He's also agreed to present the 25th Anniversary Competition's first prize of $25,000. Now that is certainly a reunion worth celebrating!
